May Festival Features Queen, Carnival, Tapping Tomorrow

High School Seniors Guests Of Council

Campus Groups Explain Activities, Hold Open House

PLAYING HOST to high school students from Washington and vicinity, the Student Council will sponsor its annual May Festival tomorrow evening with a galaxy of events.

Highlight of the festival will be the crowning of the May Queen by Larry Strickland, president-elect of the Student Council, at a student assembly in Lisner Auditorium at 8:00 p.m. The queen will be chosen by a group of hospitalized veterans at Walter Reed Hospital tonight. Candidates, representing the sororities on campus, are Helen Bachman, Delta Gamma; Joanne Beams, Chi Omega; Sue Burgess, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Virginia Cooper, Pi Beta Phi; Frances Huffard, Sigma Kappa; Claire Jordan, Phi Mu; Betty Keeler, Kappa Delta; Jean Moberly, Alpha Delta Pi; Betty Mayfield, Zeta Tau Alpha; and Evelyn Rickey, Delta Zeta. Phi Sigma Sigma has not yet announced its candidate.

Also at the assembly, which is open to all University students and high school guests, President Cloyd Heck Marvin will welcome the new students, and Dean Myron Koenig of the Junior College will give an address on "What to Expect from College." Mortar Board, senior women's honorary society, will tap new members, the Glee Club will sing, and Cue and Curtain will present scenes from "Richard III."

Following the assembly, a carnival will be held in the gymnasium with booths and other features sponsored by the sororities and fraternities on campus. Proceeds of the carnival will be donated to the Food Drive for Europe.

Dancing on Lisner Terrace from 9:30 p.m. to midnight will conclude the festival.

Davis, Waine Give Concert At Auditorium

IN PRESENTING Evelyn Davis and Allen Waine with the Dance Playhouse Group Thursday, May 9, Lisner Auditorium inaugurates a new policy of presenting programs of cultural interest to University students and Washington audiences, Director Vincent DeAngelis announced.

Mr. DeAngelis has chosen a local artist, Evelyn Davis, to initiate the new policy of Lisner Auditorium. Miss Davis, a modern dancer, has a wide reputation as an outstanding performer in her field. Her group, the Dance Playhouse, has been highly acclaimed by Washington and New York critics.

Appearing with Miss Davis will be Allen Waine, a featured dancer in "Billions Dollar Baby." Mr. Waine will come to Washington especially for this performance.

Next season Mr. DeAngelis hopes to present the top artists in all (See DAVIS, Page 3)

Students Hold Meeting to Plan V-E Day Rally

FINAL PLANS for the "Keep the Peace" rally to be held on the University campus Wednesday, May 8, at noon, will be completed at a meeting of representatives of all organizations on Saturday morning at 11 o'clock in Columbian House. All other students interested in participating in the demonstration are invited to attend Saturday's meeting.

In commemoration of V-E Day, the program of the rally will include William Higginbotham, chairman of Federation of American Scientists, as speaker. Other prominent speakers will take part in the program. Bud Friend, advocate of the Student Council, will preside as chairman of the meeting and will conduct an invocation in memorial of the war dead.

With Vivian Burke, secretary-elect of the Student Council, presiding, interested students met last Thursday and again last Tuesday to draft plans for the University's part in the campaign to "Keep the Peace." Sponsoring the campus demonstration are Vivian Burke, Robert Bialek, Christine Hudson, Jim Pugh, Doarna Winston and Joan Thatcher.

Similar outdoor rallies will be held on campuses throughout the nation as a celebration of victory over Germany one year ago, May 8. The idea for such a campaign was instituted by student leaders of nationally-known organizations and leaders on important campuses in the country.

Grads Must Apply

APPLICATIONS FOR graduation must be submitted immediately by students wishing to graduate next month, Dr. Burnice Jarman announced this week.

About four hundred applications are expected this term. This is approximately the same number as were graduated a year ago.

Club Closes

THE STUDENT CLUB will close at 3:00 tomorrow afternoon to allow time for the preparation of the buffet supper to be served high school students tomorrow night as a part of the May Festival sponsored by the Student Council, Mrs. Anne Davies, manager of the Student Club, announced this week.

Scientists Plan Annual Dinner For May 17

SIGMA XI, national science honorary, will hold its annual banquet and initiation at the Faculty Club May 18 at 7:00 p.m., Secretary R. C. Grubbs announced last week.

Sigma XI is an honorary organization, electing to membership those who have shown promise in research in the fields of pure and applied science.

At the annual election on April 12, the following were elected to active membership: Dr. Rex McLean, Guest, Chemistry Department; Dr. Edith Elizabeth Mortensen, Zoology Department; and Dr. Jacob Joseph Weinstein, in the Department of Surgery. Those elected to active membership have already had published a creditable amount of research work.

The elected associates, who have shown interest in research and who have also maintained excellent scholastic records in science, are as follows: Ray Lambert Miller, a freshman medical student who has done research in anatomy; Mary Barbara Mills, who is a graduate student working on her Ph.D. in Biochemistry; Louis C. Cargile in the Department of Physics; Philip R. Karr also in Physics; Mary Frances Edward in the Department of Zoology; and Yvonne Lastra and Emma Shelton also in Zoology.

It was founded in 1886, about 100 years after Phi Beta Kappa was organized.

Director Discloses Cup Victor

Pi Beta Phi Leads In Charities Drive With Highest Total

WITH A TOTAL collection of $357, Pi Beta Phi sorority, for the second semester, is the winner in the All-University Charities Drive and will retain the silver loving cup awarded last semester, Lois Lord, director, announced today. Formal presentation of the cup will be made tomorrow night at the buffet supper to be held in the Student Club for high school students.

Of the total $1317.24 received in the year's drive, Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority collected $270, while Phi Sigma Sigma secured $198. Other total contributions for the drive are Chi Omega, $115; Delta Zeta, $114.05; Delta Gamma, $31; Martha Washington Club, $27; Sigma Kappa, $26.58; Zeta Tau Alpha, $18; Alpha Delta Pi, $14, and Kappa Delta, $10.

The Student Council will divide the money received among the various charities included in the drive according to percentage allotments set up last semester. The divisions will be based on contributions made by University students in past drives.

Highest fraternity collection made last semester was by Sigma Chi with $22. Theta Chi secured $17. Orchestras contributed $5, Mortar Board $15, Delta Phi Epsilon, foreign service fraternity, $10, and Alpha Pi Epsilon, home economics honorary society, $3. These groups, however, did not compete in the drive.

The Charities Drive this year represents an experiment, since this is the first time collections for various charities and civic organizations have been combined into a single concentrated drive. Sharing in the proceeds are the Community War Fund, the Red Cross, Infantile Paralysis Fund, the Cherry Blossom Fund, the Children's Christmas Party and the National Symphony Fund.

Jarman Attends Registrars' Parley On Vet Problems

IN ATLANTA FOR four days last week at the thirty-second annual convention of registrars, Dr. Burnice Jarman joined almost three hundred colleagues at a meeting during which veterans' problems were discussed.

"During the war," said Dr. Jarman, "the Universities had the problem of too few students and of trying to bring their registration up. Now, it is just the opposite; there are many more students who want to enter college than can possibly be admitted."

"The veterans are nearly all freshmen and sophomores, and although there is plenty of room for more students in the professional schools (with the exceptions of the medical schools and the schools of pharmacy), there is not enough room in the lower schools. Perhaps, a few years from now, the upper classes will be overcrowded."

The problems involved in transferring credits from other colleges and from foreign Universities were also discussed.

History Professor Will Show Films On Recent War

MOVIES depicting the second World War will be presented by Dr. Lowell Ragatz, professor of European History, to his class in "Europe Since 1914," in Government 101, from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m. on May 2, 7, 9, 14, and 16. All students are invited to attend.

Consisting of 30 reels, some of the topics included in the series are "Current Events," (1937-1944), "Germany Invades Austria," "The Outbreak of Conflict," "The Russo-Finnish War," "The Attack on Denmark and Norway," "The Battle for France," "The Balkan War," "The Attack on Pearl Harbor," and "Russia Stops Hitler." Others are "The Fight for Egypt," "Russia Strikes Back," "The Invasion of Africa," "The German Surrender of Stalingrad," "The Axis Defeat in Africa," "The Invasion of Sicily," "The Defeat of Italy," "The Invasion of France," "The Liberation of Paris," "The Defeat of Germany," "The Surrender of Japan," and other camera shots of the war.

SLC Recognizes Fraternal Group; Discusses AVC

AT A MEETING OF the Student Life Committee held last Monday in Columbian House, official University recognition was given the fraternal organization known as the Argonauts, formerly the group of unaffiliated Greek men on campus who belong to social fraternities that maintain no chapters here.

Prior to the discussion of the Argonauts constitution, the Committee acted in an advisory capacity in an attempt to iron out the problems between the local chapter of the American Veterans Committee and the existing Veterans Club.

According to University regulations, approval of a group connected with a national organization whose primary motives are political is forbidden. Consequently the local group of the American Veterans Committee cannot receive University recognition.

During the discussion that took place between members of the Veterans Club and representatives of the AVC, the idea was presented that there was no need for an additional veterans group on campus and that the problems to be considered by AVC could be handled in panel discussions of the Club as a unit. In this the AVC members failed to agree.

'Thrill of New Trails' Gains Great Popularity; Hosteling Appeals to Lovers of Great Outdoors

BY LARRY CHRISTOPHER

SOMETHING NEW and different is invading the campus. Those with the love of the out-of-doors within them feel it strongest. It's called T.N.T.—the "Thrill of New Trails"—it's called hosteling!

Hosteling. It means friendship with nature, hikes on the sunny afternoon of a Sunday, cycling through the rolling Maryland countryside, a weekend trip to Crow's Nest at Thurmont, just below Shangri-la in the beautiful Catoctin range of the Blue Ridge. Others at the University, as has this writer, are discovering this inexpensive and invigorating way of spending weekends and off-campus hours.

Hosteling is an informal way of travel, a way of travel that appeals to all age groups. Its participants, whether alone or in a group, must go under their own steam and may choose to hike, canoe, ski, and even go horseback. Cycling is preferred by the majority.

In Washington, under sponsorship of the Potomac Area of American Youth Hostels, Inc., hostellers in addition to overnight trips participate in a full schedule of related day activities. These are planned hike and bike trips, horseback trips, square dancing and folk dancing, canoe trips, and farm work.

Youth hostellers are simple overnight accommodations available only to hostellers. Houseparents are youth-loving folk, often a farmer and his wife. Hostels contain separate bunkrooms and washrooms for fellows and girls and a common kitchen where they can cook their own meals. Often there is a recreation room in addition. Blankets and cooking utensils are provided. The hosteller, however, must carry his own sheet, sleeping sack and eating utensils. Another requisite is his pass, his identification as one who will observe the courtesies of the road as well as the hostel. The pass costs $1.50 for those under 21, $2.50 for those over 21. The overnight hostel charge is only 25c, plus a 10c charge for fuel.

Hostellers do not drink. Nor do they smoke at hostels as the fire hazard is too great. And it isn't hard to understand that such habits aren't in accord with the simple, and rugged, hostel way of life.

Hosteling began in Europe about 35 years ago. It developed from the dream of a young Westphalian school teacher by the name of Richard Schirrmann for a way to enable young people to meet, get to know and better understand one another. Before the war 2,000 youth hostels in 20 countries were serving 10,000,000 overnight guests. Hosteling came to the U. S. in the early 1930's through the efforts of Isabel and Monroe Smith, both teachers who happened to meet Richard Schirrmann while studying on the Continent. From the first hostel in Northfield, Mass., now AYH national headquarters, hosteling has expanded through every state. There are 250 hostels in America at present, composing a number of loops or circuits such as is being developed in the Potomac area.

The AYH Potomac area now has six active hostels in Maryland, West Virginia and Virginia. In addition there are another six emergency stops, overnight tourist homes which are not regular hostels but which are willing to make special arrangements for hostellers. Each hostel has a community sponsoring committee, sometimes the Rotary Club, Kiwanis or various women's clubs, and even schools. The local AYH office regularly schedules weekend and longer trips through this area and already has an extensive list, over two score, of vacation trips planned.

Want to come along? That invigorating Spring air and sunshine is your invitation!

Mortality Rate High

• THE HIGH MORTALITY among freshmen is another problem that should be considered by University officials in a general cleaning up of campus life. By mortality we are referring to the educational deaths of students who come to the University fresh out of high school and find themselves swallowed up in our mass production methods of turning out "educated" people.

Incoming students are generally shy or rather awed by it all. They are innocent and naive, doing what they're told—no more, no less. By the time they reach maturity (become juniors or seniors) they have usually fallen into some pretty sloppy methods of study and have developed some pretty haphazard ideas of value—they know just exactly how much they can "get away with."

Plopping a student, coming from a school where the teachers know each by name, into a class of some three hundred people to which a professor impersonally pours forth fact after fact, or tale after tale, for their edification is hardly the way to endear him to his Alma Mater. They sit in class awed, bored, scared, or sleeping. No one tells them how to take notes, how to study for exams. Until this fall when compulsory attendance, as required for years on page 50 of the catalog, was finally inaugurated, in some cases no one even cared whether or not they came to class. The entire atmosphere was supercharged with indifference.

We are not advocating the overthrow of the lecture system but rather a change in the methods of the present impersonal indoctrination system. Most people are in need of some advice. The present advisory setup is, to the student, a great farce. They are assigned an advisor when they enroll—in the long run this means nothing. They are never called in for a chat. They often never see their advisor until time comes for them to get a new schedule approved and then they never know whom to see—it was all so indefinite, they've forgotten. The advisor in turn merely OK's the schedule if all looks in order.

At other universities, systems have been worked out where each faculty member, not just a mere handful, has certain students assigned to him—certain students for whom he is responsible. Each of these students is called in for consultation once a month—it doesn't take long and it might straighten out a lot of problems for the students. It might save him a lot of grief, it might make him feel there's something personal about the University, it might make him feel happy and contented instead of flunking out for want of knowing suitable study methods or for want of feeling he is an integral part of the University, a part that is essential and not mere scrap material.

Aside from the advisors there is a great need for suitable instruction in the art of studying. This, Dean Koenig of the Junior College has recognized, and he is now working with Big Sisters on a plan to remedy the situation.

In addition to revitalizing the advisory system, a

Inside Track On...

NANCY HANCK

• NEWEST ADDITION to the Board of Editors of your Hatchet is pert and petite Nancy Hanck, or "Cow Eyes," as she is affectionately known to her throng of friends. Crowding 19, "Hank" can make like a fish, or perform entreechats real neatly, or turn out pages and pages of make-up for the paper, or any of lots of other talented things.

At the University on scholarship, she is in incessant middle of conscientiousness in keeping up with her several sororities, Orchesis, and so on, and maintaining that vital three point average. In addition to her job as Managing Editor of The Hatchet, she's a member of Phi Pi Epsilon (foreign service), Pi Delta Epsilon (journalism) and Alpha Delta Pi (need we say?). A member of Orchesis I, she was the cute little lady who took those nasty, nasty spills in the dance group's recent performance of Shostakovich's "Polka." Actually, the spills were planned, since "Hank" is a semi-professional terpsichorean. This summer she's going on tour with USO, should she overcome the pater's protests, which, knowing "Hank," we're sure she'll do.

This is her fourth semester at the University, and come May she'll get her paws on that coveted Associate in Arts. In October she'll begin her work on her degree in foreign service. Despite her constant reminder that she's "not the type that 'settles down,'" just mention Larry Woodward and her face breaks into a beam that's brilliant enough to light up the Statler Ballroom. Spring, and a young girl's fancy, y'know.

If you're itching for a good argument, look up Nancy, whose great delight is wrangling on any subject at all. But we implore you not to speak harshly to "Hank," because invariably that little chin will begin to quiver—and when it does, watch out, brother!

return to the old program of breaking the lecture periods into small sections every third class meeting might be suitable in certain courses. This means that on, say, Friday, class would be split into small groups of twenty or less and a discussion or oral section would be held. These small sections would be headed by teaching fellows or advanced and qualified graduate students. Each week the professor would visit and take control of one or more sections. By revising this system, the students would not fall into the disastrous habit of not cracking a book (or worse still not even buying one) until the night before exams—questions or problems could be discussed and cleared up (which is not possible during a lecture)—and the impersonal aspect of our University life would be lessened.

To keep students interested in staying at the University instead of dropping or flunking out (and this is important from a financial angle considering the way money talks here) something should be done to personalize class room technique. Perhaps one way would be to have a full-time scholar in charge of scholarly standards. That is, have a president and a chancellor, the one to handle the curriculum questions, the other to handle business. Mass production machine methods have got to cease. The above suggestions might help.

Review

• FOLLOWING ITS usual program plans, Cue and Curtain last Friday and Saturday closed its 1945-46 season with a classic production, "Richard III," one of Shakespeare's lesser known but stabler works. The play was marked by expert direction, costuming, lighting, and most essential, by some splendid acting.

Andrew Lantz gave a convincing performance in the difficult role of Richard, the ambitious and depraved hunchback. His diction was in character, his dramatic ability marked. Assuming that our aspiring Lunts and Fontaines are striving for professional finish, however, we would state in passing that his stage presence was something less than what we might expect from Maurice Evans.

Vying with Lantz was Jane Drew as Margaret, the old hag who had suffered at Richard's hand. In a leading supporting role, she turned in one of the most authentic pieces of acting that we have ever witnessed from Cue and Curtain.

Other prominent members of the cast, whose excellent performances cannot be mentioned at length, were Mimi Branson as Anne, Bill McClellan as Buckingham, and Bob Cordell as Hastings. With the exception of an occasional rough spot, the entire cast should be commended for entering into the show with an admirably appropriate spirit.

The Chopping Block

By Herb Halberstadt

• LAST WEEK'S COMMENT regarding the May 9 "closed night" has unfortunately been misunderstood by some persons on campus. The statement was not meant as a slam at the Glee Clubs but rather as an intimation to the Student Council that it cannot do as it pleases. While any organization which should plan an affair for that night would be within its legal rights, it would be morally wrong since the Glee Clubs, like all other organizations on campus, deserve the unqualified support of every member of the University family.

The Editors received a letter last week which was written before the story on Dr. Marvin's statement on tuition appeared. In addition to attacking the tuition raise, it also berated The Hatchet and its editorial policy. I quote:—

"The Hatchet's editorial policy has been one of licking the boots of the Administration, and clapping like a well-trained seal at its inflationary actions. It has found it easier to 'Seig Heil' the Administration than to honestly find out what this price-gouge will mean to the veteran and night students. The editorial comment attached to an earlier letter from three young ladies was a berating of the poorer students; that attached to Mr. Bialek's letter was a comment which failed to answer the crux of his argument in any way."

As was said in answer to Mr. Bialek's letter, it does seem useless to argue that none of these statements are true, since the author apparently only reads those facts which fit his theory. Apparently his eyes were weak on October 25, 1945; November 8, 1945; and February 14, 1946, when he overlooked some strongly worded editorials aimed at the Administration and again on the last date when he didn't see this column's statements on the sports situation.

While we admit that conditions here are not perfect, can anyone name one place where things are exactly as everyone would like to see them? If so, I would appreciate it if they would let me know, since I would like to go to this Utopia. There are, however, schools where conditions are worse—at the present moment one of the largest state universities of the Middle West is holding laboratory sessions in its gymnasium and another school has bolstered its teaching staff through the use of the wives of faculty members as additional instructors. As we pointed out before, the University, even with its 'inflationary tuition,' still has one of the lowest rates of any of the non-state supported universities.

At last week's meeting of the Student Council I spent one of the most wasted hours of my life. One of the sponsors of the May 8 "Keep the Peace" rally came to the meeting to request the Council to pass a resolution favoring such a demonstration. The members of the Council were not asked to do any of the work and they were not asked to do any more than supply the moral support and prestige such a resolution would carry. Although every member of the Council present announced himself as being personally in favor of such a meeting they spent over an hour battling the question back and forth and when the motion was put to a vote spinelessly refused even to support the rally to that meager extent.

Among the reasons set forth for this refusal were (1) it would entail work on the part of the Council members who were all head-over-heels in work at present; (2) such a resolution would mean that the Council was legally and morally responsible for the success or failure of the event; (3) the Council could not take such action since it was bound by the wishes of the student body and no one had polled the student body to determine its feelings; and (4) it might not meet with the approval of the Administration.

For the benefit of all concerned I would like to answer these points as follows:—(1) the Council members were not asked to do any work—most of the arrangements had already been made; (2) the Council was not asked to 'support' or 'back' the rally, but merely to 'favor' it; (3) any representative body which refuses to initiate action and which waits passively for its constituents to explode a dynamite keg under it in order to get action, is not worth a hoot and shouldn't have been elected in the first place—it is the Council's job to lead as well as to represent the student body; and (4) we have always expounded the theory that student-sponsored and backed plans should not be 'cleared with the Administration' unless some degree of cooperation from or some action by the Administration is desired. The authority to plan and authorize assemblies and student meetings has already been delegated by the Administration to the Council. It is well and good to ask the Administration for the use of Lisner Auditorium for an affair, but to ask them for approval of every action of the students and their Council is to invite faculty censorship and a dictatorship of the students by the Administration.

Mezzanotti To Perform At Lisner

Youthful Violinist Presents Concert Tuesday Evening

By JANET GLISSON

• MATTEO MEZZANOTTI will present a violin concert at Lisner Auditorium next Tuesday at 8:30 p.m.

Before entering the service, "Matt" gave every indication of becoming a well known concert violinist, and since his discharge has resumed his musical career. He was born in Washington twenty-four years ago and has always been interested in music as evidenced by the fact that he studied the violin as a very small child in Milano, Italy.

Many remember Matt, for he attended the University during the spring term last year.

He gave his first concert here in Washington at the age of seven. When he was eleven he presented a benefit performance for the Red Cross at the old Belasco Theater, and at sixteen was given the four year Peabody Scholarship.

Although Matt's life has been principally music, he has found time for many other activities. While at Staunton Military Academy he won the South Atlantic championship in boxing, and during his senior year at Central High School he organized the first inter-high boxing team. He coached boxing for Central and for the Boys' Clubs here in town while engaged in amateur boxing activities. In order to save his parents from worry about his hands, he used an assumed name when entering bouts. He got as far as New York in the Golden Gloves Eastern Conference.

Upon graduation from Central High in 1938, Matt entered Maryland University as a pre-med student and was on the varsity boxing and wrestling teams. He attended Columbia Medical School for a year before going into the Navy, and was pre-flight boxing champion at Chapel Hill, North Carolina. It is interesting to note that he gave a concert for the boys there on the same day that he won the boxing championship.

Matt has had several offers for next year and plans to either be in a Broadway show or have his own radio program. Last summer he was offered a screen contract by M. G. M.

All kinds of music appeal to Matt, although he naturally has tendencies toward the classical type. He led a dance band last year at the Terrace Gardens in Miami, Florida.

Tickets for the concert will be handled by two representatives on campus, Janet Glisson and Loyd Price. If you wish to secure a block of tickets it is advisable that you speak to one of them as soon as possible. Tickets will also be sold in the Student Club and at the Lisner box-office at a date to be announced soon in The Hatchet.

PIED Elects Ellen Watson As President

• PRESIDENT of Pi Epsilon Delta, national drama honorary fraternity, for the coming year is Ellen Watson, who was elected at a recent meeting of the organization. Jane Drew was chosen vice-president.

In announcing the new officers, retiring President Larry Strickland explained the "staggered system" of election, whereby a completely new group would not be in office at one time.

Frank Falkenhainer, who recently appeared as Richmond in "Richard III," was elected to membership. He will be tapped at the Cue and Curtain banquet this month. Jane Summers and Margaret Frye, who were tapped in March, will be initiated this month. The election of other chapter officers will take place at the end of the semester.

cultural fields. He said that in offering these programs, special student performances would be given in addition to the regular subscription concerts. Not only does Mr. DeAngelis hope to present the top artists in dance and music, but he would like to be able to offer several Broadway productions.

This policy of outside entertainment, of course, would not interfere in any way with school functions and performances. Director DeAngelis stated, "One of the main reasons for this new policy is to be able to give the interested University students an opportunity to hear and see fine performances at prices the average student can afford."

All music is original and especially composed for the dances to be presented. Costumes were designed and executed by Miss Davis.

Reporter Polls Views On Tuition

BY LOUISE CLARK

• IN VIEW OF President Cloyd H. Marvin's statement in last week's Hatchet, students were questioned as to whether they think the tuition raise is justified or not. Most agree that it is, but only if facilities are expanded.

Paul McCoshy, Freshman: "Since other schools are doing the same. I think it is justified. The University should get as much as it can of the five hundred dollars a year for the returning veteran."

Laura Smithers, Freshman: "Yes, if the teaching staff is increased and if buildings are added and the campus enlarged."

Miriam Frechtman, Senior: "Many of us who go to school now under great financial duress will find it increasingly difficult to do so when the tuition raise becomes effective. We feel that there should be adequate returns for the increased sacrifice, and certainly, the explanation given to date does not suffice."

Ralph Miller, Sophomore: "With the increased enrollment I can see no reason for raising the tuition rate. There are more students to support the University now than there were during the war since classes that had fifty students then have 250 now. However, if the school does plan to increase facilities and add buildings the raise might be justified."

Jeanne Read, Junior: "I think it is justified because it will attract better instructors and will make possible the addition of badly needed facilities."

Bill Long, Senior: "With the rising price level there would seem to be some justification in raising the tuition rates. However, President Marvin does owe it to the student body to give us a concise, clean-cut statement with facts and figures showing exactly why the raise is justified."

Marian Alvord, Sophomore: "I think it is definitely justified. With the increased cost of living and the increased student body more professors will be needed with more pay. We definitely need a lot more buildings and from what I hear it is possible with the help of the increased tuition."

Peggy Batsch, Sophomore: "Until all the figures concerning the new budget have been released, and until specific action has been taken in regard to increased facilities and instruction, President Marvin's statement will not prove valid."

Chuck Wallace, Junior: "Dr. Marvin states that he can't release facts and figures before the coming meeting of the Board of Trustees. Why then can't we wait until after that meeting before deciding on increased tuition? Surely funds collected between now and the time of the meeting are not so much that the school can't get along without it."

Glee Clubs to Present Concert and Dance

• THE COMBINED GLEE Clubs last week completed their final tune-up performances prior to the climactic 26th Annual Concert and Dance, and began an intensive series of rehearsals designed to put them in top shape for the May 9 Concert and Dance, which will be held this year in the West Ballroom of the Shoreham, beginning at 8:45 p.m.

Veterans Affairs

By Fughe and Wilding

(Editor's Note: The portion of last week's column which discussed the American Veterans Committee was written by Jim Fughe, who continues the discussion this week.)

• SOME OF THE main objections to students of the University having their own chapters of national veterans' organizations, and the right to hold their meetings in University buildings are: First, that with the appearance of one organization there are bound to be others that will organize under the same conditions, which would possibly lead to a general state of confusion among the veterans.

Second, that with several organizations around they will eventually be in competition with the recognized veterans' organization on the campus, the Student Veterans Club.

Third, that these national veterans' organizations take definite stands on legislation and some political issues, and it is believed that this may identify the University with the political policy of a small group.

On the other side we have these arguments for the forming of student chapters of national veterans' organizations.

First, as was stated last week, the only mutual unity of interest of the prospective members of the various veterans' organizations which may form chapters is that they are students and veterans attending the University.

Second, many of the topics in which the veteran is vitally interested, and which will be subjects of discussion at the meetings of his chapter, are topics which are or may be practical applications of their academic studies.

Third, the argument that veterans' organizations will be in competition with the Student Veterans Club is countered by the fact that in the present situation many of the members of the Student Veterans Club are also members of the American Veterans Committee. The policies of national veterans' organizations are not directly concerned with the campus affairs of the veteran.

Fourth, the most important argument for national veterans' organizations is that they will stimulate interest among veterans on contemporary problems, and will do a lot toward making us all more.

Prospects Good

According to Dr. Robert Harmon, director of the clubs in the last 22 final concerts, prospects for a successful concert are best since 1941, following which the needs of the war almost completely wrecked the men's club, reducing its strength from sixty to less than twenty voices. Although the men's club is still below its pre-war strength, it has been bolstered by the return of a number of men, including Bob Geran, Nick Lakas, Gene Costello, Harry Ehrmantrout and Stan Russell. The women's club, Dr. Harmon added, has maintained its quantity and quality, has abundant solo talent. Altogether, at least a hundred voices are expected to open the first of three series of four numbers with Bortniansky's "Lo, a Voice to Heaven Sounding." Other songs in the opening group, presented by the combined choruses, will be Tchaikovsky's "Cherubim Hymn," "Bells of St. Mary's," and "Fierce Was the Wild Willow," by T. Tertius Noble.

Following these the women's club will retire from the stage and the men will present "On the Sea," by Dudley Buck, "Old Man River," Ethelbert Nevin's "The Rosary," and a trio of sea chanteys named "Eight Bells," "Away to Rio," and "Old Man Noah."

Women Perform

The third part of the program will find the women's club in four numbers including "Lift Thine Eyes," by Mendelssohn, "Birdsongs at Eventide," by Eric Coates, "List the Cherubic Hosts," from the second part of A. R. Gaul's "The Holy City" cantata, featuring Henry Ehrmantrout in the bass solo role, and the "Cachuca and Finale" from Sullivan's "The Gondoliers."

The ever inspiring "Kamenoi Ostrow" will, as always, climax the concert, and will be joined in by all of the ex-Glee Clubbers in the audience.

Last Sunday evening at the Willard, the combined Glee Clubs presented an hour-long concert for the Rotary International Clubs. The presentation was featured by the presentation in its entirety of the first half of A. R. Gaul's "Holy City" cantata. The cantata had been given in the Easter Concert of April 18, and, as before, spotlighted solos by Betty Lou Trowbridge, Pauline Gish Davis and John Mitchell.

Malotte's "Lord's Prayer," and "Fierce Was the Wild Willow," followed "God Bless our Native Land" as program openers. Lighter numbers included "The Bells of St. Mary's" by the combined clubs, featuring Sol Pargament and Vivian Burke, and "Old Man Noah," by the men's club.

Condon Discusses World Scientific Accord Tonight

• "RESTORING International Cooperation in Science" will be Dr. Edward U. Condon's topic tonight at the first in a series of annual lectures presented by the School of Engineering. This lecture, to be held in Lisner Auditorium at 8:30 p.m., is being made available through the generosity of Frank A. Howard, an alumnus of the University.

Dr. Condon, who is Director of the National Bureau of Standards, is also Scientific Advisor to the Special Senate Committee on Atomic Energy. He began his career as a National Research Fellow at the universities of Göttingen and Munich in 1926. He has been a member of the physics faculty of Columbia, Princeton, and Minnesota Universities. Before coming to Washington, he was associate director of the Westinghouse Research Laboratory.

Alpha Kappa Psi Selects Leaders For Next Year

• AT THE LAST business meeting of Alpha Kappa Psi, professional fraternity of commerce and finance, on Wednesday evening, April 24, officers were elected to serve for the next school year beginning September, 1946.

Chosen as president, Dale J. Hensley; vice president, Wm. F. Huffman; secretary, Raymond A. Servais; treasurer, Frank W. Tucker; and Master of Rituals, Ross C. Hall.

At the meeting, final arrangements were also made for the winter roast which was held last Saturday evening at Section No. 22 in Rock Creek Park. A record number of both regular members with their families and friends, and alumnae members were present. Retiring president Walter V. Lund declared the gathering a great success.

Club Plans Fiesta

• EL CLUB ESPANOL will hold its final meeting of the semester on Wednesday, May 8, at 8:30 p.m. in Columbian House, first floor. At this time the officers for next fall will be selected. President Anne Ringwalt announced.

A fiesta has been planned for the evening, and is to feature the dishes of Mexico and Latin America.

Former English Instructor Returns From Navy; Now Counsels Students in Junior College

BY SYBELLA CLAYTON

• JUST BACK FROM the Navy is young William L. Turner, former English instructor at the University and now assistant to Dean Myron Koenig of the Junior College. Mr. Turner's primary concern in his new capacity is counselling students.

In his capacity as assistant to Dean Koenig, he attempts to solve the many problems which confuse and harass the undergraduate. A returning veteran himself, Mr. Turner is interested in aiding his fellow veterans. He stated that he was most impressed with the fine records of these returning students. "They are doing very well. They are very determined to get through and have a most serious intent toward their studies," he said.

Mr. Turner has had a varied career since his graduation from the University of Pennsylvania. He has been a newspaper reporter, feature writer, statistician, and bond salesman. After trying his hand at bond selling, which he stated was not to his liking, he returned to the University of Pennsylvania, where he obtained his Master's degree in English. The following fall, September, 1941, he came to the University as an instructor in English. In May, 1941, Mr. Turner entered the Navy as a Lieutenant senior grade. He was a Communications Officer here in Washington and Assistant Communications Officer at the Naval Station at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

While on terminal leave, he returned to the University on March 15 as a full time assistant to Dean Koenig and at present is not teaching. He may resume instructing in the fall.

Prior to the war, Mr. Turner did a great deal of travelling. One year he toured the United Kingdom and Northern Europe, going from town to town and castle to castle. Another year he was a guide at Chateau Thierry and Belleau Woods, taking the American tourists around the battlefields of World War I. Still another year he visited Switzerland, Germany, Belgium and Holland.

Mr. Turner's primary interest in English is in the field of drama. This interest has led him into college and little theater productions as an actor, director, and producer. He was a member of the Barn Stormers, one of the oldest amateur theater groups in the country. Not only did he direct and act with this group, but at the same time was also directing the Swarthmore Players, another Pennsylvania group.

Radio and the "soap opera" have also had Mr. Turner as an actor and director. He was the juvenile lead in one production in which the script would be written just before performance time. "Very hammy," he said. "I don't know how anyone could have listened to us." He also appeared on a program which dramatized events from American history.

In 1938, he directed and produced a play which was presented over television. He deserted his company at performance time to view them over the television receiving set. "It was not too clear. But for what it was, it was very good. It is a good medium for the masses. It will do for drama, what radio has done in bringing good music to everyone."

Besides his hobby of drama, Mr. Turner is a pianist. He likes both popular and classical music, but boogie woogie does not appeal to him. Golf is his only activity in the sports field, and he is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

Strickland Gate and Key Taps at PanHel Discloses Revisions

• AT THE LAST meeting of the Interfraternity Council, the 1946-47 program was adopted by the group, President Larry Strickland announced.

Rush regulations have been revised in two respects. The Freshman Smoker will now be held downtown and not on campus as in previous years. There will also be a delayed rush period. Rushing has been starting with the first week of school, but the Council is trying to inaugurate a new plan whereby there will be a possible month's delay.

Plans have also been made for the reformation of the Pledge Council, which will include the revival of the annual goat show.

Two new sports will be included in the interfraternity program, tennis and golf. Football, basketball, ping pong and bowling will be continued next year.

Social Program

Among the new social functions to be held are a spring tea dance and a party for homecoming. The Interfraternity Prom will be held in the first part of March.

Another function that has been revived is the annual Interfraternity Sing, to be held in April.

Definite dates have not yet been set for any of these events, but will be this month, in order that they may be submitted to the Student Council.

George Carter, Tau Kappa Epsilon, chairman of the program committee, planned the new schedule. He has stated that it is a revival of the pre-war program of the IFC with a few innovations and additions.

Also revised at the last meeting was the elections system. This was done on a rotating basis to fit the present active fraternities. Revisions are as follows: President and social chairman, Sigma Nu versus Tau Kappa Epsilon; vice president and activities chairman, Sigma Chi versus Pi Kappa Alpha; secretary and treasurer, Theta Delta Chi versus Kappa Sigma. The following pairs will move up the scale for officers: Sigma Alpha Epsilon versus Kappa Alpha and Acacia versus Phi Sigma Kappa. This program was prepared under the chairmanship of Reid Baldrige of Sigma Nu.

Doyle in Chicago

• DEAN HENRY Gratton Doyle will be in Chicago today, tomorrow, and Saturday to attend the meeting of the American Council of Education. He will represent the middle states in the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Fraternities Select Twenty-three Outstanding Men

Those tapped were: Al Brodell, Richard Wilkinson, Acacia; Ernest Baynard, George Vass, Kappa Alpha; James Grady, Hugh McLaughlin, George Stakeman, Kappa Sigma; Cliff Carlsedt, Joe Vivari, Phi Sigma Kappa; John Clark, Edwin Dotson, Pi Kappa Alpha; Dick General, Dudley Judd, Wayne Thompson, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Reid Baldrige, Richard Mahoney, Sigma Nu; Fred Kingman, Joseph Newlin, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Berry Barnes, Larry Strickland, Sigma Chi; George Carter, Tau Kappa Epsilon; William Cahill, Robert Flanders, Theta Delta Chi. Dr. Arthur Burns was honorarily tapped.

Initiation banquet will be held on May 10, the time and place to be announced later.

Since the war, the business of the fraternity has been in the hands of a trustee committee composed of Dean Elmer Louis Kayser, Frank Reifsnnyder and Lee Page. This committee was established at the time the group went inactive.

The plan was that if at any future date it was deemed advisable by two members of the committee to reactivate the fraternity, it should be done.

Gate and Key originated at the University in 1922. It was felt that the interest and ideals of the University could best be served by organizing the outstanding men in national social fraternities on campus into a single functioning unit.

• APPLE POLISHING at its height was demonstrated here last week when this columnist was given a little apple by her favorite (plug) professor. The only trouble was the apple was green. Since then doubt has assailed her. Was the color a coincidence, or could he possibly be indicating that she causes him the same pain a little green apple causes some people?

NOTE: It wasn't Dean Johnson even though he did comment on her recent reluctance to attend class by caustically saying, "I hope you come sometime in May. After all, it's a short month!"

When Dean Kayser left his English history class to get a map, one bright-eyed lass made a dive for the door to escape for the rest of the period. The door stuck. When it finally opened she spied the Dean rapidly approaching with the map. In the precise middle of the third leap to her seat in the first row, the Dean entered, stopped, and amid the dying laughter mumbled, "If this be treason, make the most of it."

Chinese officials taking the Civil Service exams are locked in small exam rooms during the several days the tests are going on. Upon opening the door, Dean West states, some candidates often are found dead. This shows that the examination was difficult.

Everyone in Strong Hall is raving over Dottie Henry's new hat. It is one that was ordered from Mary Jane Klipple after The Hatchet revealed her millinery talents. Prior to its arrival at Strong Hall, the Staughton Hall girls "ohed" and "ahed." One young beauty actually insisted that she be allowed to wear it to her wedding. "Tis pretty!"

Veterans

intelligent and better citizens.

Among the important considerations of veterans is the factor of national political parties and political groups. There is a great hue and cry about veterans' votes and splitting this group is the aim of master-minds who have visions of great power.

Attempts to speak for or against a candidate in the name of veterans is so misused that within a few short years there will be no danger of a unified vote from the veterans as a whole. That is just the thing that is desired by minority groups that are now strutting, inflated and doped with power politics.

The attempts of veterans' groups to tell Congress how to treat their members is an old line.

To insure the best results from the veterans it would be advisable to let them alone, let them make their own decisions as to whom they think the best candidate is. There is a vast movement among the veterans toward politics. This is very good and just as it should be; but why do the power politicians go out of their way to help a small gathering of veterans get started and then smoke up the whole issue. If it is to keep them from entering politics, no hint of power, even obscure as it might be, should be given.

PIKA's Select M'Liss Wilson As Dream Girl

• M'LISS WILSON, Chi Omega, was crowned PIKA's Dream Girl on Saturday, April 27, at the Pikes Annual Spring Formal.

John Driscoll, president of the chapter, placed a crown of white carnations on Miss Wilson as the boys of PIKA, accompanied by Jack Morton's orchestra, sang the "Dream Girl of PIKA." She then was presented with the fraternity's sweetheart pin.

Miss Wilson was attended by Barbara Hanby, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Peggy Calvert, Delta Zeta, and Margy Campbell, Kappa Kappa Gamma, three former PIKA Dream Girls.

A green-eyed, blond sophomore from Bartow, Florida, Miss Wilson is a member of Phi Pi Epsilon, professional foreign service sorority.

Phi Alphans Hear Kayser At Reunion

• "FRATERNITIES have demonstrated their importance in the university system, and must now apply themselves to strengthening this position and improving it" was the theme of Dean Elmer L. Kayser's speech to the members of Phi Alpha at a stag banquet held last Sunday at the Hotel Broadmoor.

Second of three affairs given as part of the Twenty-fourth Annual Alpha-Gamma Reunion, the banquet was attended by more than sixty-five undergraduates and alumni representing almost every chapter of Phi Alpha on the East Coast.

Both Dean Kayser and Founder Dr. David Davis stressed the importance of the undergraduates' part in building up fraternities "since the older members have done their job and now expect the younger men to carry on the task."

Sponsored by the University's Alpha and Georgetown's Gamma chapters, the reunion consisted of a formal dinner-dance held last Saturday evening at the Indian Springs Country Club, the stag banquet, and an informal dance Sunday evening.

Highlighting the reunion was the installation of the new Alpha officers on Saturday.

Theta Delts Win Track; Best in Intramural Basketball

Take Six First Places

BY KEN FEEGUANE

• THE INTRAMURAL TRACK meet was held at Western High School Stadium, Saturday, April 27. Theta Delts were victorious with a score of 94 points. Second place was gained by the Independents with 68 points. The Sigma Chi's placed third, and fourth and fifth places were taken by the Phi Sigs and SAE with 20 and 12 points respectively.

The first race was a 400 yard shuttle run. The teams were composed of four men who ran 100 yards each. Independents placed first, followed by the Sigma Chi's and the Theta Delts. Winning time was 46.4 seconds.

Following this event was the 440 relay in which the Theta Delt four took first place with a winning time of 45.5 seconds. Second and third places were taken by the Independents and SAE.

Medley Races

Sigma Chi won the 880 yard medley race in 1:59.2 minutes. Theta Delts placed second and the Phi Sigs third. The first man in this race ran 220 yards, second and third men 110 yards, and the anchor man 440 yards.

The 880 relay, in which four men run 220 each, was taken by the Theta Delts in a time of 2 minutes. Independents placed second, and the Sigma Chi's third.

Fourth event was the shot put in which Bubonovich took first place for the Theta Delts with a heave of forty feet, four inches. Labukas, also of Theta Delt, took second with a close forty feet, three inches. Pritchard and Morgan captured third and fourth places for the Independents.

Broad Jump

The second field event was the running broad jump. Winning jump of nineteen feet, two inches, was made by Behling of the Independents. Turkey Thompson, also of the Independents, placed second with a jump of eighteen feet, eleven and a half inches. Third place was given to Burgioni of the Theta Delts who jumped eighteen feet, eight inches. A close fourth place was made by Haldman of the SAE squad who jumped eighteen feet, six inches.

The fifty yard dash was run off in two heats and the winners of the three heats were placed in the final run. Burgioni of the Theta Delts placed first with a time of 8.8 seconds, the Phi Sigs captured second and third with Dunsinberre and Grey placing. Bob Unger of the Sigma Chi team finished fourth in this event.

Winner of the final heat of the one hundred yard dash was Burgioni of the Theta Delts. His time was 10.8 seconds. Second place went to Behling of the Independents, while John Thomas placed third for Sigma Chi. O'Neil added two points to the Theta Delt score by taking fourth place.

Trophies will be awarded to the winning team on May 10 in the University gymnasium. There will also be individual awards to the high scorers in the various events, the broad jump, high jump, 100 yd. dash, 50 yd. dash and others. A varied program will feature several added attractions.

Shorts on Girls

By a Major and a Minor

• WITH A BEAUTY equaling Robin Hood's Sherwood Forest the University archery range overlooking the Tidal Basin will be the site today for the annual Spring archery tournament. This classic sport has long been an outstanding feature in the physical education program here at school and was received with particular enthusiasm this year by the women of the University.

One factor owing to the delight in this sport is that under the careful guidance and expert instruction of Miss Elizabeth Burtner the young archers are beginning to get the feel of the bow and develop a fine judgment of accuracy with the swift flying arrows.

All Classes Enter

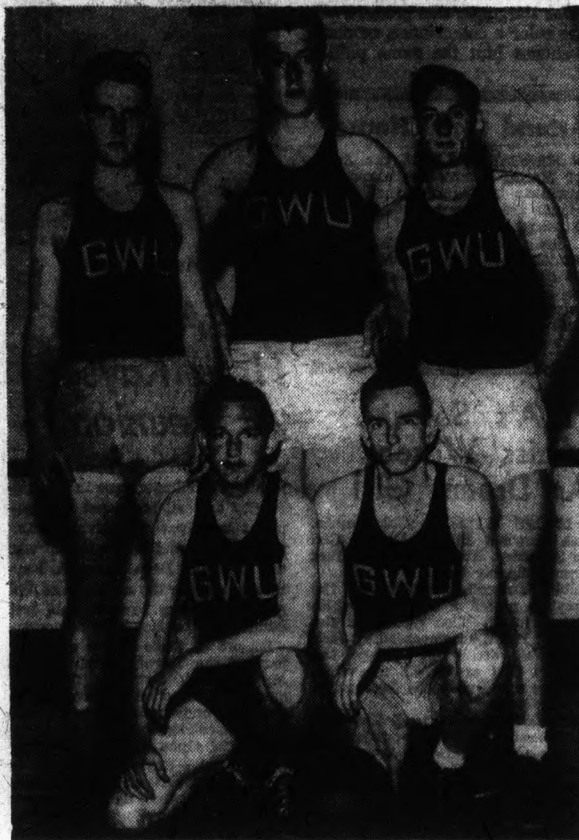

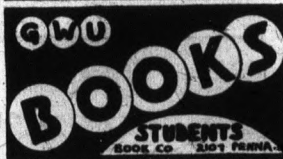

All of the students in the various archery classes will participate in the tournament. This is an interesting highlight also, since many of the entrees had never done any work with archery before taking this course. Yet, in these few short weeks, they have gained confidence and skill to feel qualified to enter the contest.

Tonight many of the University sports enthusiasts will gather around the balcony surrounding the Y.W.C.A. swimming pool and between wiping drops of chlorinated water out of their eyes will see the bathing beauties of the University paddle themselves breathless in the biggest swimming event in the year.

Dennis Directs

The swimmers have been working hard all season under the directorship of Miss Virginia Dennis and have prepared a program that the spectators should thoroughly enjoy.

Several specialties on the agenda include numerous intricate rhythmic patterns done in groups and also diving. The relay will be one of the high spots on the program. Teams will be made up of four swimmers from each sorority as well as a returning independent foursome, the victors of last year's meet. Other races include eighty yard free-style, forty yard free-style, forty yard breast stroke, forty yard back and a sixty yard medley.

Bohemians, Theta Delts Meet For Intramural Softball Title

• LAST SUNDAY THE intramural baseball league ended. Winners of the two divisions were the Theta Delts and the Bohemians.

The Bohemians, blasting Sigma Alpha Epsilon pitching for nine runs in the second inning, won the game 22-9, and thereby assured themselves a spot in the championship playoff. Jim Gra-

Elmer Levine hurled good ball as he scattered five hits among the SAE's and added six strikeouts to his total.

Intramurals Schedule Field Day

Three Universities Compete in Meet Saturday at 2 P.M.

• IN A FURTHER ATTEMPT to encourage an intramural sports program, the University intramural sports department has scheduled an annual "Extramural Field Day." It will be held during the afternoon and evening of Saturday, May 4, starting at 2 p.m.

Joe Krupa, intramurals director, has asked several of the colleges in and around Washington to send their intramural champions here to compete in the events. Purpose of this field day is to give added incentive to the intramural program within each school and not to determine the championship of the city. Awards will be given to the winner of each event and a team trophy for the All-Extramural Championships.

The meet will begin at 2 o'clock at the University Gymnasium and recreational softball diamonds No. 9 and No. 10 at the Lincoln Memorial grounds. Georgetown and American Universities will each send competitors for softball, table tennis, basketball, and volleyball, as will the University.

Ed Gee, winner of the intramural table tennis tournament, will be our representative in the table tennis event. Theta Delts and Bohemians will play in the volleyball and basketball games, respectively. Either the Theta Delts or the Bohemians will play softball in the Saturday meet, depending on who wins the intramural softball tournament. Each of these two teams is the champion of its respective division.

A system of scoring has been arranged by Joe Krupa whereby a team will receive 50 points for entering and 10 points for winning in table tennis. In the other games there are 75 points for entrance and 10 for winning.

Mothers and Sons Agree on The Boys' Store for Clothing

The reason is simple and practical. Both mothers and sons find, in The Boys' Store, a happy combination of things each feels are important. Mothers demand wear and durability, clothes that fit properly. Young men want "he-man" styling. What better reasons then, to come to The Boys' Store when you shop.
